ProLiant®

NOW A LICENSEE

PROVEN 2-WAY API + SSO

Broker relationships remain broker-led

ProLiant Is Now an Employee Navigator Licensee

More flexibility, support capacity, and continuity for benefit brokers, account management teams, and shared clients.

For nearly a decade, ProLiant has supported employers and benefit brokers through a proven Employee Navigator integration. As a licensee, ProLiant can now offer, support, and manage Employee Navigator for employers that do not already receive it through a broker. Broker-owned accounts continue using ProLiant's existing payroll integration.

ANOTHER SERVICE OPTION - NOT A COMPETING CHANNEL

Your agency can remain fully hands-on, use ProLiant for added support, or have ProLiant provide Employee Navigator directly when that is the right fit for the employer.

What This Means for Your Agency

➤ Add capacity without adding headcount

Use ProLiant as an additional resource when open enrollment demand, staffing constraints, or internal lead times pressure your account management team. Broader platform access can improve coordination, issue resolution, and continuity for shared clients.

➤ Choose the model client by client

Keep Employee Navigator under your agency's license, or use ProLiant's licensed offering when an employer needs direct platform administration. Your firm can stay as involved as the relationship requires.

➤ Preserve the relationship you own

If your firm already provides Employee Navigator, that relationship remains yours. ProLiant continues to deliver payroll, HR, and the established integration without requiring the account to move under our license.

➤ Support continuity as needs change

When service responsibility changes - or when a payroll relationship ends - ProLiant and the broker can coordinate the Employee Navigator account to reduce disruption and help avoid an unnecessary reimplementation.

BROKER-FIRST COMMITMENT

Support, Not Competition

ProLiant chose Employee Navigator rather than building a competing benefits administration platform. Our license complements broker services, preserves the broker's advisory role, and creates more support options for shared clients.

FLEXIBLE BY CLIENT

➤ BROKER-LED ACCOUNT

Your agency licenses and services Employee Navigator. ProLiant connects payroll and HR through the existing integration.

➤ SHARED-CLIENT SUPPORT

Your agency owns the relationship. ProLiant adds coordination and troubleshooting when appropriate.

➤ PROLIANT-LICENSED ACCOUNT

When an employer does not already receive Employee Navigator through a broker, ProLiant can offer and manage the platform directly.
